READER'S GUIDELINES

When assessing the enclosed manuscript, we would be grateful if you would use the following categories.

1. Objectives and main arguments
Is the subject of the article within the scope of the journal? Does the title clearly and sufficiently reflect its content? What are the manuscript's objectives and main arguments? Are the interpretations/conclusions sound and justified by the data? Is this a new and original contribution? What does the manuscript add to our understanding of British Columbia? What larger conceptual or theoretical points does it make?
2. Soundness of scholarship and methodology
How well is the manuscript researched, argued and organized? Are the illustrations and tables necessary and acceptable? Are the references adequate and are they all necessary?
3. Significance
How important is it that this manuscript be published? How significant is its contribution to understanding aspects of British Columbia? How broadly based will its readership be?
4. General judgment
Do you have any suggestions for improving the manuscript? How accessible is it to readers? Can you suggest brief additions or amendments (words, phrases) or an introductory statement that will increase the value of this paper? Can you suggest any reductions in the paper, or deletions of parts? Would the manuscript be more effective if reconceptualized, reorganized, shortened, or tightened up? Please be as explicit as possible.
5. Recommendation
Please let us know whether, in your best judgement, the manuscript should be:
  - a. published as it stands,
  - b. published subject to satisfactory revision,
  - c. returned as unsuitable for publication in BC Studies, or
  - d. returned as unsuitable for publication.
